

June 2013 - JCMA Consulting delivers strategic benefit to a start up

Using its considerable knowledge base and quality / process tools, JCMA Consulting assisted a start up logistics organisation to develop a fundamental view of the operational and organisational imperatives to deliver a strategic roadmap for next the three years.

“This work reinforces one of JCMA’s core competencies to deliver value added strategic thought leadership for its clients. The value we add is derived through pragmatism and fundamentally understanding the needs of the client” [Charles McNena – Partner Strategic Business Solutions]

“We are impressed with the insights provided by JCMA and particularly Charles McNena. His wealth of experience expedited the process whilst creating full engagement of all management and staff. The roadmap developed gives us real insight, clarity and commitment over what we need to achieve to be successful now and into the future [Client Feedback]
